About the Lecture

This lecture is an opportunity to get to know more closely three local organizations that fulfill their missions thanks to cooperation with Polonia. Although the organizations were founded at different times – The Kosciuszko Foundation (1925), the Polish Heritage Society (1965), and the Drexel University Polish Society (2017) – their work continues to flourish. The speakers will present the missions of the organizations they lead, the most important initiatives and events of their work, and their plans for the future.
