About the Lecturer

Richard Brzozowski attended the United States Naval Academy and served in the U.S. Marine Corps during the Korean War. He returned to civilian life and earned an MBA in production management at the Baruch School of the City University of New York. During his professional career Richard worked as a quality control engineer at Bell Telephone Laboratories, Sperry Gyroscope Corporation, and Grumman Aerospace Corporation. In the early 1970s he joined the banking industry, where he worked at senior levels of management. In 1999 Richard retired from active professional work. He became involved in community work on the scholarship committees of the Polish & Slavic Federal Credit Union and the Pulaski Association of Business and Professionals (Związek Biznesu i Profesjonalistów im. Pułaskiego). He served on a committee of the Polish American Congress, helping Poles who had been subjected to forced labor by Nazi Germany to file compensation claims. Richard Brzozowski is an active member of many Polonia organizations.
